

Loving, tending, feeding faith in the 21st century

Mary Hess / mhess@luthersem.edu
United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities / 29 october 2012

Thanks for joining me for these presentations. To help lessen your note-taking burden I've put all of my presentation slides here:

<http://www.luthersem.edu/mhess/web/united.html>

The websites that I reference in my presentations are actively linked in those slides. Alternatively, many of the sites I reference are also found on this webpage:

<http://www.luthersem.edu/mhess/web/faithfulchildren.html>

You might also find it useful to have citations to the videos and books below.

Video Clips

"Fix the Bible" from Firefly, "Jaynestown," season 1, episode 7, 2002.

"The Bible is not a weapon" from Saved!, United Artists, directed by Brian Dannelly, 2004.

"Baracknophobia" from The Daily Show with Jon Stewart, 25 June 2008.

"Apt analogies" from The Simpsons, "She of little faith," season 13, episode 275, 2001.

Social media revolution video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IFZ0z5Fm-Ng>

Medieval help desk: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pQHx-SjgQvQ>

Useful Books

The following books are particularly useful to people in pastoral ministry:

Clay Shirky, Here Comes Everybody, Penguin Press, 2008

Heidi Campbell, Exploring Religious Community Online, Peter Lang Publishing, 2005

Elizabeth Drescher, Tweet If You ♥ Jesus: Practicing Church in the Digital Reformation, Morehouse Publishing, 2011

Elizabeth Drescher and Keith Anderson, Click2Save: The Digital Ministry Bible, Morehouse Publishing, 2012.

Real

Unreal
Hyperreal
Surreal