

RUBY BROWN

Ruby Brown has been a pillar in her community for over twenty-five years. An active volunteer, Ruby works with youth groups, schools and women prisoners.

She is a Deacon at Liberty Community Church PCUSA. Ruby is a community activist, Board Chair for NOC (Neighborhoods Organizing for Change). And she is a board member of the Neighborhood Hub. Brown is a member of Black Lives Matter. She played a major role in the Fair Rights Housing Act that Governor Dayton signed into law. She was a front line fighter for her community during the bank foreclosure crisis.

Ruby has been a hair salon owner for twenty three years. She worked for many years with such well-known beauty firms such as Rocco Altobelli Advanced Training Center and the Regis Corporation, the largest chain of beauty salons in the US. Ruby has worked as a platform artist for large hair care companies at large conventions for her peers.

Brown has also been a consultant for The Hypatia Group for several years and has been part of the team that worked with Luther Seminary's "Dismantling Racism Course."
